Dear Members,

AATA is paying close attention to statements from the CDC and World Health Organization regarding the coronavirus (which causes the disease COVID-19) and will continue to follow guidelines from these agencies as well as federal and local health departments. The well-being of our 51st Annual Conference attendees and vendors, and the Washington, DC community is of the utmost importance to us.

Our National Office staff will continue to monitor this situation while moving forward with plans for hosting an outstanding conference. As we approach the launch of Early Bird registration on April 2nd, we will have more information for prospective attendees to consider as they make their plans.

With the conference seven months away, we know that things can change—and we will continue to have updates for you and provide resources. As of now, we do not have plans to cancel or reschedule the event and look forward to seeing our friends and colleagues in Washington, DC this fall!

Please contact the National Office at info@arttherapy.org or by phone at 888-290-0878 if you have questions or need assistance.

Kind regards,
Kat Michel
Manager, Member Engagement and Programming

American Art Therapy Association | 4875 Eisenhower Avenue, Suite 240, Alexandria, VA 22304